What we do:

Squeaky deploy our team before an event to ensure the premises and location of the contract meets with our existing standards for cleanliness. We continue to deal with the developing waste and litter situation throughout the entire event. After the event we ensure the premise and location are returned to at least its pre event state.

The team:

The team are extremely experienced and have over 25yrs experience in the recruitment, supply and on site management of support staff to many large organizations; setting up Squeaky Events Division 8yrs ago to purely concentrate on Events and large scale clean ups. The company employs both a substantial permanent staff core, and at peak times can employ anything up to 300 temporary staff, depending on the needs and requirements of the contract.

Squeaky Values:

The challenges faced when cleaning a major venue are never the same. They are all individual; they all operate and behave differently depending on the local environment. However, we believe that the foundation of cleaning any area is the same. This is reflected in our mission statement, and from which we have created a set of core values through which we deliver our business:

- We enter each contract with a 'partnership' philosophy – our performances are linked as such
- We endeavor to complete each contract ensuring that our promises are kept every single time
- We set the standard for the UK best practice
- We promote complete honesty and open communication amongst all parties
- We recognize the importance of our people, and hold our entire workforce in the highest regard
- We consider recruitment, induction and training of our staff to be of paramount importance
- We enjoy what we do, which reflects in our tenacity
- We possess and nurture a complete understanding of our industry

Squeaky Cleaning has a high proportion of experienced Managers and Supervisors, with skills attained from working around both the UK and Ireland at some of the most prestigious sporting and music events.

At Squeaky Cleaning; we believe in investing in the transferal of our extensive knowledge of the industry, to ensure that lessons are learnt and implemented by our entire team.

We continually work alongside, and liaise with, organizations within the industry to ensure that all of our clients benefit from the latest developments and industry initiatives.

“We strongly believe at Squeaky that no matter how big or small the contract may be, that it is paramount that the service we offer and provide is the same high quality across the board.”

Squeaky Commitment:

- Meeting clients expectations
We get to know our clients so we know exactly the best way with which to proceed.
- Cost effective
We provide more than just a competitive price, working with our clients to find more cost effective ways of doing business.
- Experience
Operating throughout the UK, working alongside some of the most prestigious organizations within the industry.
- Financial stability
We have solid financial backing.
- Sustainability
We have a history of responsible growth, which is always a key aim for future development.
- Core values
The fundamentals of our service delivery and the basis on which we operate at Squeaky.
- Exceptional service
From day one and throughout our entire working relationship
- Supplier Partnerships
An imperative part of our company's culture.

Squeaky Cleaning Event Specialists Management System:

At Squeaky, we operate a highly effective Management System. We have therefore, developed the following documentation that enables us to provide a quality and standardized service for all of our clients, and which also dictates how our company is managed:

- Quality Manual
- Procedures Manual
- Company Documentation

Staffing and Supervision:

The organization of staff is provided based upon the requirements of our clients. Each area is under the control of a supervisor, who will in turn report to the Event Manager for Squeaky Cleaning. All staff are trained and inducted in accordance with the company management system, ensuring that their individual duties and responsibilities are covered. Supervisors will be responsible for allocating staff as per the roles drawn up for each individual event, and also for auditing the work carried out to ensure that it is completed to an exact specification.

Training:

All of Squeaky Cleaning personnel are fully trained and receive an in-depth induction. This induction includes site specific Health and Safety information and emergency procedures, along with complete training for their individual duties. All training is carried out by knowledgeable and experienced members of the management team, and training records are kept accordingly. All operatives are made aware of the cleaning specification for the event, and the standards required.

The areas that Squeaky Cleaning staff are trained in as standard include:

- Induction
- Manual Handling
- Chemical Awareness
- Infection Control
- Machinery to be operated
- Quality Management System
- Cleaning Specifications

At Squeaky Cleaning; we believe in investing in the transferal of our extensive knowledge of the industry, to ensure that lessons are learnt and implemented by our entire team.
